

Are you tired of dealing with the chronic pain of concussion recovery?

Introducing...

PlantPharm CBD Shampoo

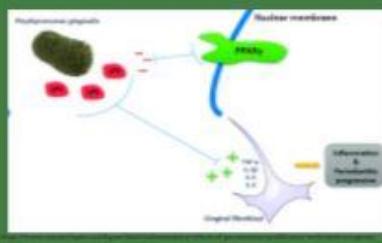

What is CBD?

CBD is a natural product derived from the hemp plant. It is a terpenophenol containing twenty-one all-natural carbon atoms.

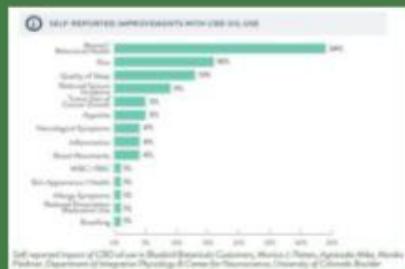

CBD is NOT a psychoactive chemical, but has a wide range of benefits to our bodies. Most importantly CBD is a known antioxidant and anti-inflammatory compound! It does this via activation of a receptor in our nerves known as CB1, increasing production of chemicals within cells that are responsible for inflammation reduction.

What causes painful concussion symptoms?

Concussions are caused by the brain hitting the wall of the skull due to high accelerations. This causes neurons within the brain to tear and the surrounding tissue to become inflamed. The brain then spends valuable energy to reconstruct the pathways.

What else can PlantPharm Do?

How does PlantPharm work?

PlantPharm CBD Shampoo takes all the anti-inflammatory properties of CBD and applies them topically to the scalp and neck. This helps to ease tension causes by inflammation in muscles, which is a typical symptom of concussions caused by whiplash. It also promotes production of ROS, stimulating anti-inflammatory response leading to faster healing of neurons and muscle tissue.

What about the brain's chemical barrier?

By stimulating the body's natural healing response, there's no unnatural compounds that get stopped from entering the brain. This lets the terpenophenol compounds do their work in the bloodstream and nerves outside the brain, before letting the body deliver the soothing anti-inflammatory compounds that let your brain heal faster, and with less pain.
